If our contemporary's information be correct the Chinese again appear to have got the better of British diplomacy. It is satisfactory t learn, however, that the vexed question of the tribute mission, or decennial exchange of presents, though not definitely settled by the Convention, is, to be allowed to drop. We will therefore be spared the humiliation of seeing an embassy from a British denendency received at Peking in the Hall of Tributary Nations, How Lord Roseners and Mr. O'Conon could ever have agreed in the earlier Convention, to the sending of such a mission, is past comprehension Another point of interest is that goods passing into China from Burmah are to be admitted on the same terms as goods from Tonkin via Mengtzu and Lungchow are admitted under the French treaty, that is on payment of two-thirds of the duties leviable at the Treaty Ports. this Work spanis partialled. All the now ords which the Chinese have of later ears been compelled to cole to express the numerous objests in machinary photography, talegraphy. and in science generally, which the rapid advance of foreign relations has imposed upon them, are here given in estered Each and every word is fully illustrated and explained forming expresses. for students of a most instructive esture. Both the Court and Puntl pronunciations are given the abcanta being parefully marked on the best principle hitherto attained. The typography displays the engoese of an attempt to mike the Chinese and English type correspond in the size of body, thereby effecting a vast economy of space, achieving a clearness not previously attained, and dispensing with those vast margine ! and vecent spaces which have harstofore charactorized Chinese publications Paillnstrata the vary score of the work following facts are submitted for consideration: --Chalmers Vocabulary contains about 16,000 Chinese oberacters and Medharst's English and Chinese Digitionary about 100.000 whilst this work contains more than 50,000 English words, and upwards of 600,000 Thiness characters. Again, fis pite all the grammers and other elementary works as yet published, the student of this difficult language absolutely requires exemples to display the various appli cations and equivalents of different words which have one general meaning. Of these examples this work contains more than five times as many as any other Dictionary hitherio pub-

For practical purposes the arrangement of the work is so complete that a reference to its pages ounbles a person who understands English to communicate effectively with natives who the work will be found indispensable to all Enropeans residing in China and to the natives homselves it explains subjects fully with which very few indeed of the u are perfectly acquainted To parties resident in England and interested n China it cannot but be invalvable occasion-It commisss upwards of two thousand large

And the weighing of their performances as well as their weight are taken into consideration in allotting the starts. Whippets always run over a tract of about 200 yards The dogs are weighed both before an i. after racing, although only those placed in the hents require to scale after passing the judge. HOW THE RACES ABE RUN.

Handicaps are run off in heats, there usually being at least three whippels in each heet. The track, which, as I have said, is usually 200 yards long, is 12 yards wide, is made of cinders, hard, and perfectly level. The whippets at a meeting are daprived of their couts-a racing man would say that they are stripped -- and taken to their marks. Each dog has a place of ribbon -either red, white, green or blue-round his neck, and some faithful heachman of the owner holds it by the scraff and by his quarters. Meanwhile the owner, carrying either a white handkerchief, a piece of linen; a tuft of grass, a pigeon's wing. Day or even a stuffed rabbit (this has been known) walks backward towards the finishing line some 200 yards away. As he retires the owner or train or excites the whippet by familiar ories and wor suf encouragement. He waves his hand kerchief and calls to the dog to come to him The animals yelp and are impatient to be released that they may dash after their masters or friends. When these gentry have arrived near the flaishing mark the starter fires a pistol. The dors are "delivered" and the persons with the handkerchief and other signals must get over the ten yards line beyond the finishing mark The dogs run for their lives towards these men who, standing still, endeavour by waving their flags and by raising their voice to hie the animals on to the greatest erertions. When the dogs have passed the finishing marks the udge holds up a red, white, green, or blue flag denoting which onimal has won the heat or handic p. The cloth waved by the runners up is called "buit," and one very good rule of this sport is that live bait is absolutely probibited Such handicaps as this are run every week on racing grounds such as that at Failsworth, and Andershaw in Lancashire. The effort in the South is to make the surroundings more respectable. Why I have a good word for whippet racing is that it embodies pura, racing without any of the notorious brutality of rabbit coursing. Metal; is about 2 years old and is good as new ! above Ports.
